

Introduction

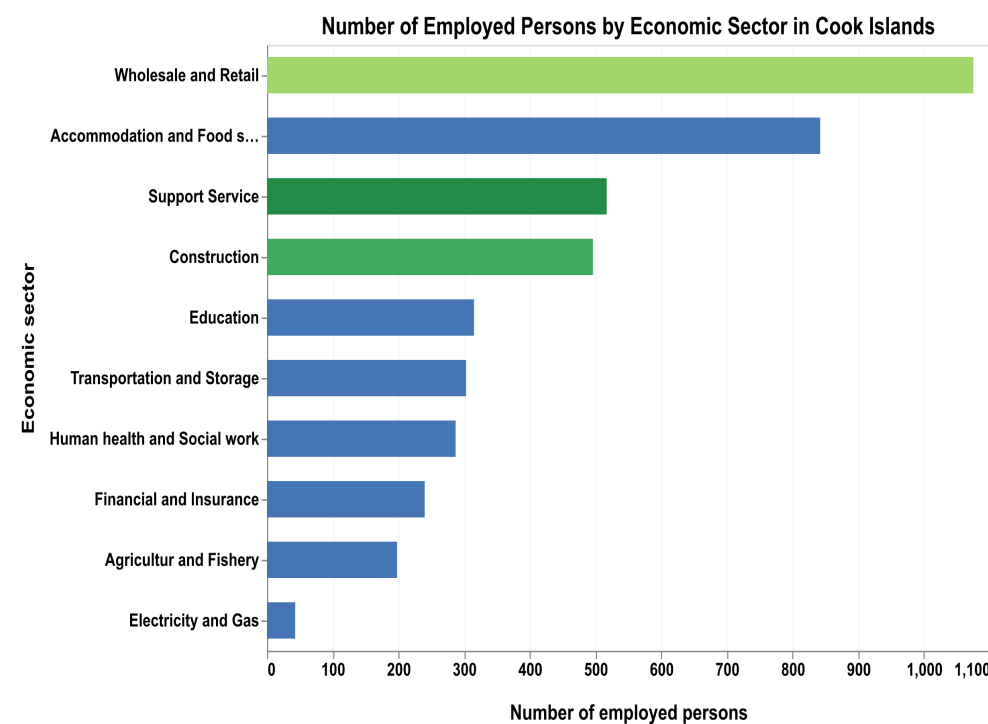

This poster explores occupational gaps by gender across various economic sectors. It highlights employment distribution and emphasizes key sectors in Cook Islands. Visualizations reveal disparities and sector-specific employment trends for insightful analysis.

What Drives Gender Employment Gaps Across Cook Islands' Economic Sectors?

Percentage Distribution of Records by Economic Sector with Education Highlighted

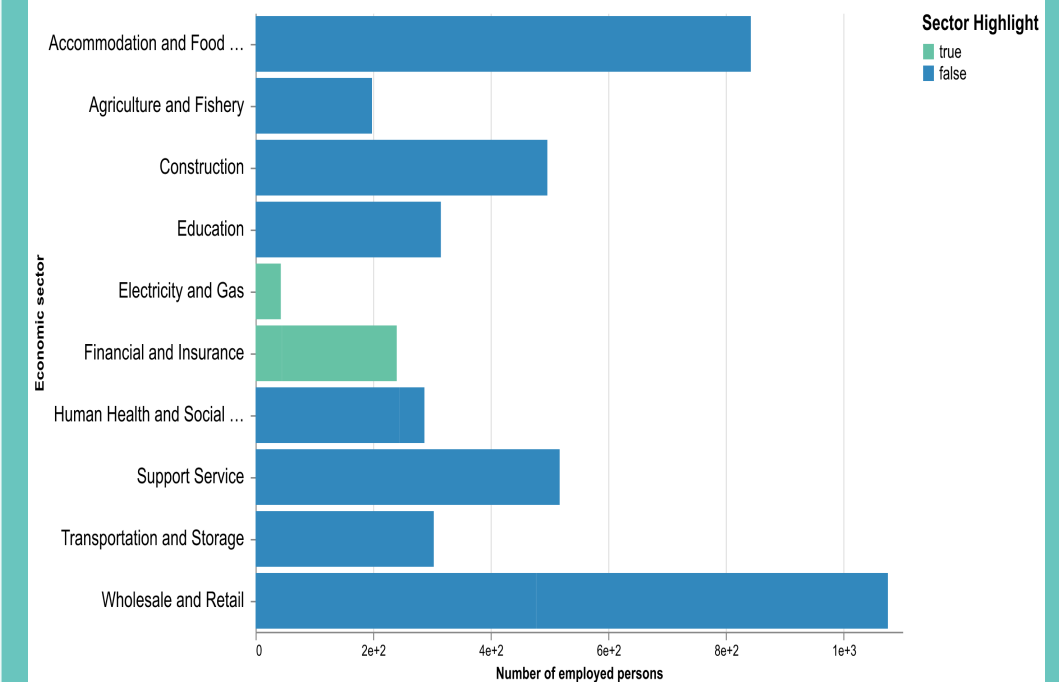

The Education sector accounts for 11.7%, highlighted in red; Other is largest at 14.1%; others range 9%-12% each.

Top three sectors by employment in Cook Islands: Wholesale and Retail (1080), Accommodation and Food (840), Support Service (515).

Employment Numbers by Economic Sector in Cook Islands (Bottom Three Highlighted)

The bottom three sectors are Electricity and Gas (<50), Financial and Insurance (~250), and Human Health and Social Work (~275).

Conclusion

This poster analyzes gender employment gaps in Cook Islands' economic sectors. The Education sector holds 11.7 percent employment, second to Others at 14.1 percent. Top sectors include Wholesale and Retail, Accommodation and Food, and Support Services. Least employment occurs in Electricity and Gas, Financial and Insurance, and Human Health sectors. These trends reveal significant occupational disparities and sector-specific distributions. Addressing these gaps can promote equity and improve workforce diversity. Understanding sector employment is key to closing gender gaps in Cook Islands' economy.