How Do Victim Age, Crime Type, City, and Race Interact in Crime Patterns?
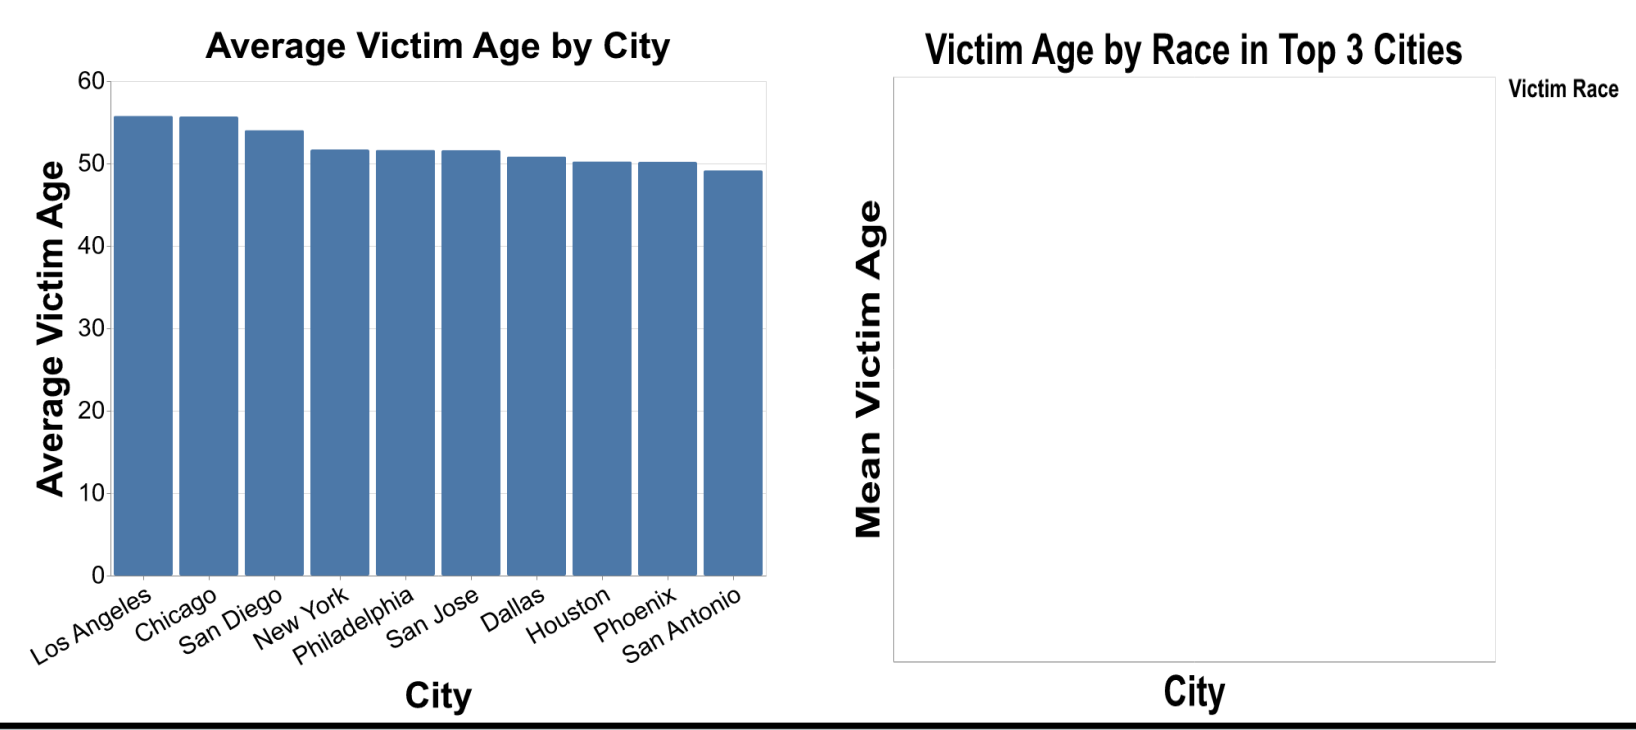

INTRODUCTION

Victim age varies across crime types, cities, and races in the dataset. This poster explores average victim ages by crime, city, and race for detailed insights. The analysis covers multiple crime categories and major U.S. cities.
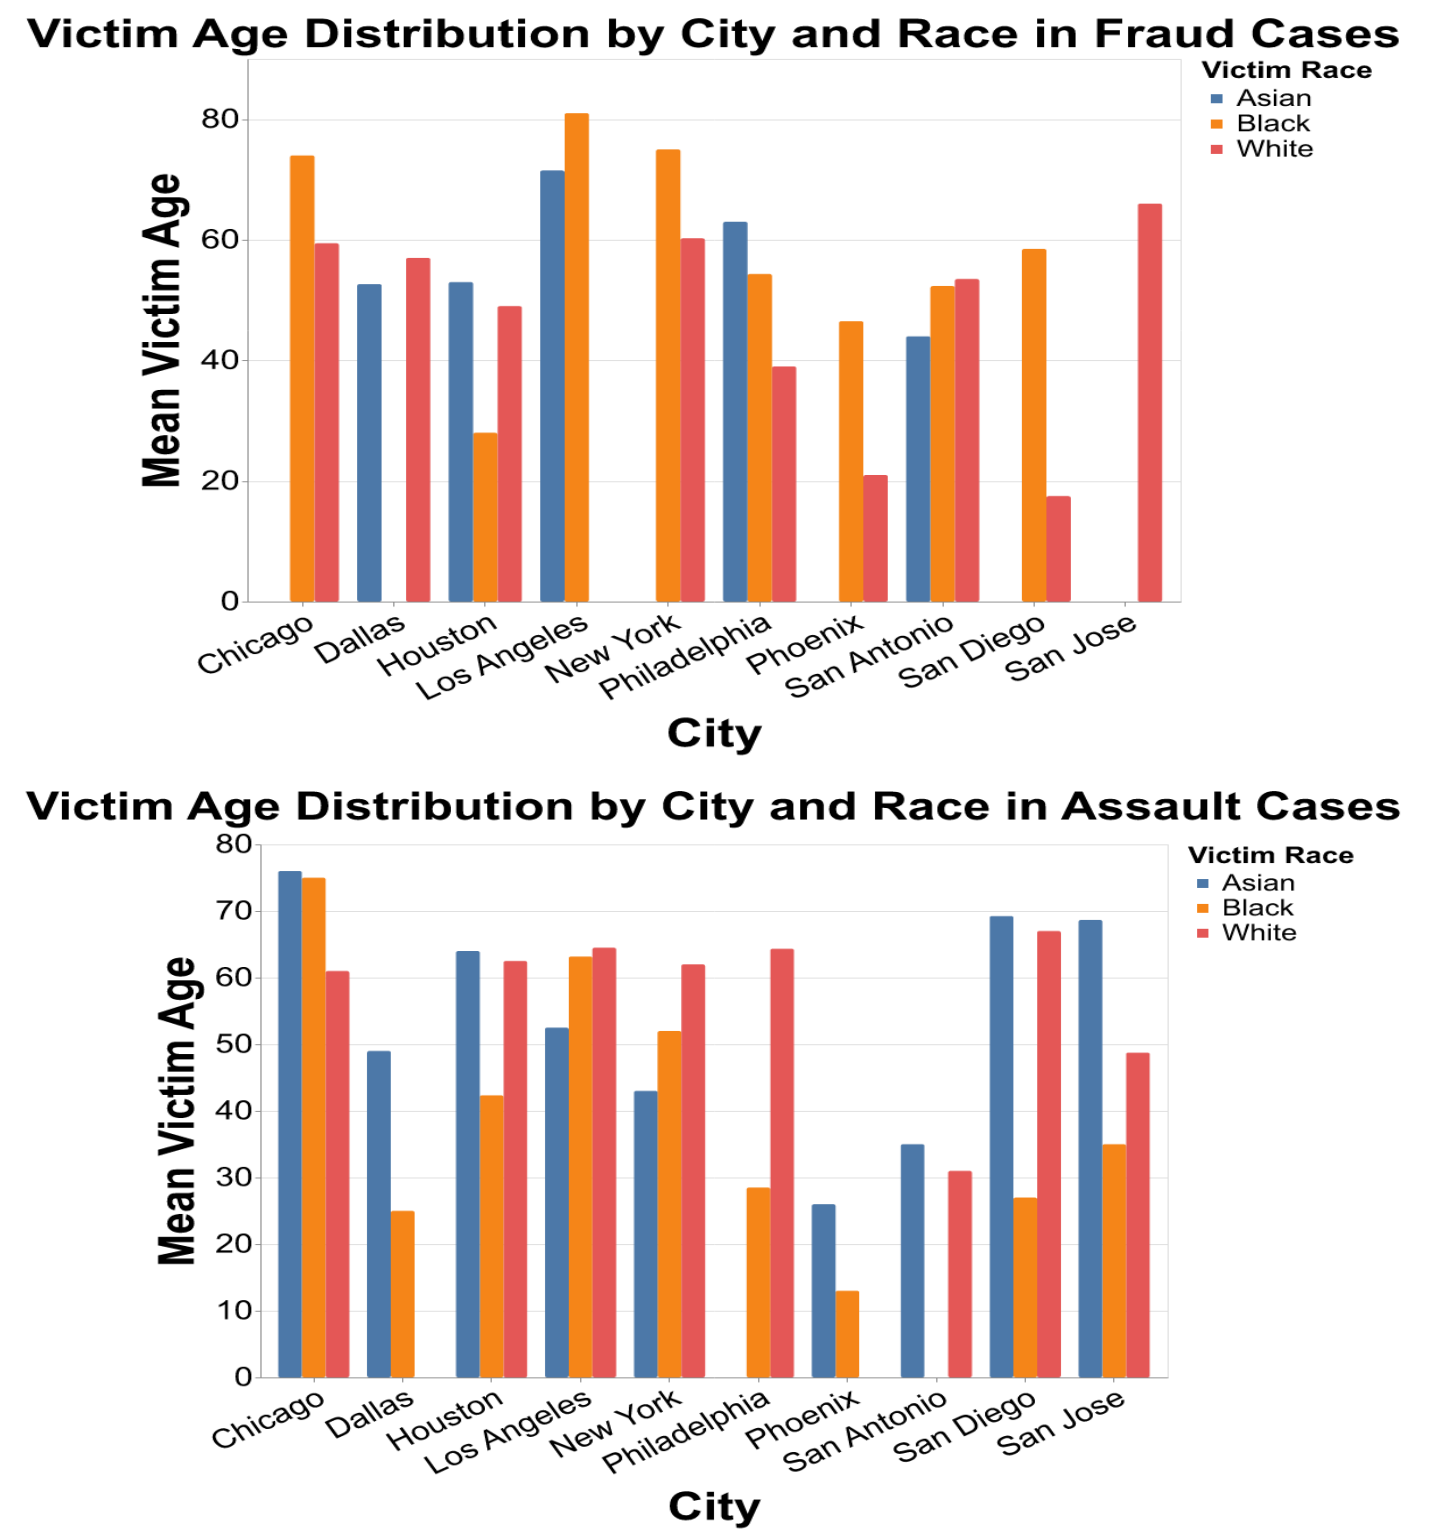

01 Victim age varies by crime type and race within the least frequent crimes.

Victim Age by Crime Type

Victim Age by Race in Bottom 3 Crimes

02 Victim age patterns differ across cities and races in the top locations.

Average Victim Age by City

Victim Age by Race in Top 3 Cities

03 Detailed victim age patterns emerge by city and race in fraud versus assault.

Victim Age Distribution by City and Race in Fraud Cases

Victim Age Distribution by City and Race in Assault Cases

CONCLUSION

Victim age differs significantly by crime type and race in less common crimes. Age patterns also vary across cities and races in major crime locations. Fraud and assault show distinct victim age trends by city and race. These findings highlight complex interactions between victim age, crime, city, and race.